VICE PRESIDENT MARSHALL PRESENTS "HEALTH BANNERS" TO SCHOOL CHILDREN.

HEALTH BANNERS TO SCHOOL ZONES

Vice President Marshall Makes Presentation on Treasury Steps.

Congress is directly responsible for the health of the school children of the National Capital, and statesmanship that does not see that every school child has a sound body and mind is unworthy to be called statesmanship. In the opinion of Vice President Marshall, who presented "health banners" to winning grammar school divisions gathered on the south steps of the Treasury building late yesterday.

Two Banners Awarded. The ceremony marked the close of a campaign in this city inaugurated by Charles M. DeForest, organizer of the National Tuberculosis Association. The banner for the best division in the white schools was presented by the Vice President to Esther Ruppel, 633 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, of the Wallach School, who in turn presented it to Dr. E. J. Kimball, supervising principal of the seventh division. Maggie Robinson, 308 Vine street, Takoma Park, received the banner for the colored schools and presented it to Dr. John C. Nalle, in charge of the tenth division. "I am convinced that you cannot succeed in your studies unless you look after your physical well-being," said the Vice President, after being introduced by Assistant Supt. of Schools Stephen E. Kramer. "It is becoming more and more the province of Congress to see that you are guarded and that every condition that will improve your health is given you."

For Healthful Citizenship. "In the new order of the world statesmanship is unworthy to be called statesmanship that does not insure every child that goes into the public schools a sound body and a sound mind so far as is possible. The surest guarantee against future wars is a strong, courageous, faithful, moral, intellectual citizenship. I ask you now not to stop this work because the contest is over. Keep it up from day to day, week to week, from year to year, and pass the good work along to your associates that will come after you."

40 ELABORATE FLOATS TO FEATURE PEACE FETE

Being Built at Cost of Thousands at Delaware Avenue and O Street.

Down in the sheds at Delaware avenue and O streets southwest a corps of carpenters and designers are busy building forty elaborate floats representing nations and groups of people for the international peace celebration, to be staged in Washington, July 4.

All of the floats are symbolic of the return of peace to the world and are regarded as the most elaborate ever built for a local celebration.

Today they are mere skeletons mounted on flat stone wagons, but the plaster molds, the beautiful vases and the imposing collection of paint cans scattered about the sheds bear out the prediction of the designers that by Sunday or Tuesday these bare wagons will be transformed into dazzling models of life in the various countries of the world.

Foreign-Born Americans Aid. Thousands of dollars are being spent on the floats and the majority of it is being contributed by the American representatives of the nations which the floats typify. One of the most unique floats built is that of the National Geographic Magazine. On the back of the wagon will be mounted a huge reproduction of a copy of the magazine spread open. Between the pages girls will stand representing the several big nations of the world.

Out on the front of the wagon a woman representing peace will stand upon the globe holding ribbons which run from the several characters stationed in the pages of the book. The symbol of the float is that a better understanding between peoples through the medium of reading will bring peace.

Serb-Croat-Slovene Float. Another elaborate float is that of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. In the center is a figure holding the blue, white and red flag of this new kingdom. At her feet will sit four women, representing the arts, literature, industries and emblematic of the nation. There will be two boys, one holding a small boat, symbolic of the infant navy, and the other holding the figure of a lamb, representing the part that animal plays in the business of the kingdom. In the back of this float will be several rifles stacked, to indicate that war is over, and behind the guns two peasants will stand with plows, to symbolize the return of the world to peaceful pursuits. Another float will be built in the form of an old-time Norwegian ves-

AMERICAN PATROL FIRED UPON BY MEXICAN PARTY

NOGALES, Ariz., June 27.—A party of six Mexicans fired upon a cavalry patrol four miles west of here late yesterday. The Americans returned the fire. No Americans were injured. The cavalrymen were without orders to cross the border line and sought cover when fired upon. About a dozen rounds were fired at the Mexicans, who were concealed in brush. Whether the Mexicans were identified with any revolutionary band could not be determined.

Other floats will represent Salvador, Switzerland, Cuba, Peru, Haiti, as well as the big allied nations.

The floats are being built by two firms—Fessmore & Damon of New York and Oler & Gross of Baltimore.

LEAGUE PROTESTS CUT IN FEDERAL BOARD'S BUDGET

The Consumers' League of the District is today writing to members of the Senate appropriations committee a protest against the cut in the appropriations for the Federal Trade Commission.

The league asserts that the women of the United States must depend on the Federal Trade Commission for expert information on the food question, which is an important problem confronting the American public today.

In view of the action taken by several congressional committees toward an investigation of high prices of foodstuffs in the District, the league is of the opinion that the commission should not be handicapped from giving out from time to time expert information on this subject.

Letters are also being sent to a number of women's organizations throughout the country, calling attention to the cut in the appropriations to the Federal Trade Commission and to the dangers therefrom, as already stated.

Two Sent to Prison for $7,000 Theft. Ernest Hill and Annie E. Love, both colored, convicted recently of stealing $7,000 worth of jewelry from a house where the girl was employed, were sentenced today by Justice Siddons to serve two years in the penitentiary. The man claimed that he was drinking when he misrepresented the age of the girl.

Given Two Years for Perjury.

Ignatius Johnson, about fifty years old, convicted of perjury in connection with securing a marriage license to marry his seventeen-year-old niece, was sentenced today by Justice Siddons to serve two years in the penitentiary. The man claimed that he was drinking when he misrepresented the age of the girl.

Justice McCoy Off for Son's Grave. Chief Justice McCoy of the District Supreme Court left Washington today for a visit to the grave of his son, Lieut. George Baldwin McCoy, who was killed in France last July. Lieut. McCoy is buried in the American section of the cemetery at Pierrefonds.

HUN EDITOR IS FINED FOR LIBELING U. S. TROOPS

COBLENZ, Monday, June 23 (by the Associated Press).—George Sauerborn, editor of the Motaubauer Kribsblatt, convicted on the charge of having published false statements regarding the American troops, has been fined 1,000 marks and sentenced to three months' imprisonment. The jail sentence, however, was suspended. Sauerborn's defense was that the Kribsblatt had reported the article from a newspaper in unoccupied Germany, which alleged the killing of two Americans by civilians, and that the Americans subsequently levied a fine of 20,000 marks on the town where the shooting was alleged to have occurred. The military authorities contended that the publication of this and similar articles was due to a secret German organization the object of which was to spread anti-American propaganda in unoccupied Germany and in the occupied zones as well. Motaubauer is the headquarters of the 1st Division, the largest occupied by the Americans on the eastern bank of the Rhine.

Good Blood and Good Nerves Are Necessary to Good Health—Nu Vim Is an Iron Weed Blood and Nerve Tonic of Unusual Medicinal Properties.

About this time of the year people begin complaining of weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and a general run down, tired and lazy feeling. Strange pains are felt in head, back, stomach, bowels and limbs. Some say they have stomach trouble—others think it's their kidneys—some fear heart disease, and all are rheumatic. But probably the trouble is thin blood and poorly nourished nervous system, reacting on the weakest organ, creating local conditions that are symptoms of general debility. You need a Blood and Nerve Tonic to tone up your whole system. Nu Vim is a vegetable—all medicinal. Can't hurt a well person—must help a sick one. Improvement starts with the first dose. One dollar bottle is frequently enough.

For example of what Nu Vim does for run-down and ailing, read this statement by Theodore Slackner, 1320 N. Frazier street, Philadelphia. He says: "My face had a rash on it. My blood was very bad and I had a tired, lazy draggy feeling all the time. My stomach didn't seem to digest my food and I felt bad in every way." Now see what good judgment he used. "Finally I got a bottle of Nu Vim Iron Weed Tonic for my Blood and Nerve. It acted like a charm. My complexion cleared up and I feel strong and fine in every way, thanks to Nu Vim. It's a great tonic. Nu Vim isn't a 'cure-all' but it acts on all the run-down organs through the blood and nervous system. When these are right, nothing else can go far wrong. Nu Vim is sold at

All of People's Drug Stores.
